Railway Commissioners to Make a Tour of Inspection-The Stevens Murder Mystery at Yanceyville.

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.) RALEIOH, N. C., December 7.—The Pro-oresice Farmer, the State Alliance organ, to-day attacks the address which the Democratic Committee last Saturday issued to the Democrats of North Carolina. It says:

"No one can suppose that the great feeling of dissatisfaction and depression existing among our people could be suppressed by any ten men in the State pre-paring and sending out an address. The paring and sending out an address. The general tenor of the document is a tirade against the Republican party. Just such documents as this have well nigh ruined our people. There is no use in forever saying there should be financial reform or any other kind of reform. From this time out the party that puts forward the most promising plan in plain English is likely to strike the people most favorably. We make the broad assertion here and now that neither party will dare put anything in the national platform that means radical reform."

This attack is the subject of much comment. An officer of the Alliance refused to sign the address.

THE STEVENS MUEDER. THE STEVENS MURDER,

THE STEVENS MUEDER.

The specific denial of the statement that in a death-bed confession Dr. Felix Roan confessed the murder of State-Senator Stephenson in Caswell county in 1870 increases interest in the whole matter. The Roan family, as well as other prominent Caswell families, are greatly stirred by the publications. In 1876 ex-Governor Holden (who in 1870 was Governor) informed Rev. Dr. C. T. Bailey and two other prominent Baptists that Stevens was murdered by Republicans for political capital, and not by Democrats. The condition of affairs in 1870 was such as to make a race war at one time seem a certainty—Union League against Kuklux.

THE EDITOR'S STATEMENT.

Editor Harris, of the Hillsboro' Observer, will publish in the morning a statement in which he will say he obtained his information as to the death-bed confession from Sheriff Hughes, of Orange county, and that it was common talk in Caswell and Orange for weeks, denied by no one.

This statement by Editor Harris will deepen the shadows around this celebrated case.

Statements having been made that there were some money-making schemes inside the business agency of the State Farmers' Alliance and that its officers received a percentage on the commercial fertilizers handled, your correspondent had an interview with Business-Agent W. H. Worth. The latter said: "The Alliance requires that the business agency be made self-sustaining." This has been carried out. To do it we had to get a brokerage on articles sold. Taking fertilizers, for instance, the Durham Alliance fertilizer pays a brokerage of fifty cents a ton. Half of this goes to the sub-agent for handling it and the other half to the State Executive Committee to pay the expenses of the business agents' office and keep lecturers in the field. Any surplus is used by the committee as it thinks best. Individually I have never received a cent from any source. The receipts last season from tertilizer brokerage were about $7,500, as some 15,000 tons were sold."

His sleeping apartment was in the same room with two D. D's. Dr. Davis was awakened one morning by the sound of the noise of a blacking-brush being vigorously used. On looking up he discovered that one of the learned and eminent divines had quielly arisen, and there before the fire he sat polishing the shoes of his brother minister. He could see humbleness written all over his face, which greatly reminded him of our Saviour when he washed his Disciples' feet. Dr. Davis remained quiet and said nothing until the D. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] STAUNTON, VA. December 7.—Mrs. Susan E. Heiskell, of the Augusta Female Seminary, died in this city this morning at the advanced age of eighty-four years. This estimable lady had been ill with la grippe since the death of her husband, Ware H. Heiskell, who died here a month ago. Mrs. Heiskell was a devoted member of the Episcopal Church. She will be buried in the family grounds at Thornrose cemetery to-morrow afternoon at half-past 3, Rev. Walter Q. Hullihen officiating. This honored old lady left three children—Mrs. Carrie Westmoreland, of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. Mary Woods, of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Julia Baldwin Wayt, wife of Dr. J. Newton Wayt, of this city. STAUNTON, Va. December 7,-Mrs. Susan

A BARN AND CONTENTS BURNED. Assaulted and Severely Injured by a Negro-Railed for His Appearance.

(Special relegram to the Dispatch.)

Lunay, Va., December 7.—The large barn on the farm of Mr. David Spitler, a few miles south of Luray, together with its contents, was totally destroved by fire last night. About 250 bushels of wheat, a large quantity of hay, four calves, farming implements, &c., were burned. The loss was from $1,500 to $2,000, with about $500 insurance in a local mutual company. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin. diary origin.
BRUTAL ASSAULT.

On Saturday night in Luray Buck Gray (colored) hit Beauregard Lovell, a white man, with a large stick of wood, breaking and mashing his nose, cutting his head, and inflicting serious and painful wounds. Gray was arrested and subsequently bailed in the sum of $200 to await the action of the grand jury.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.1 Norfolk, December 7 .- The Academy of Music was densely packed yesterday afternoon, fully 2,000 persons getting inside and nearly as many more turned away, all anxious to witness the exercises attending the annual lodge of sorrow of the Benevolent Protective Order Elks of Norfolk and Portsmouth. It was an imposing affair throughout and surpassed anything of the kind ever before held by the Elks in Virkind ever before held by the Elks in Virginia. A number of visiting brethren were present from other cities. Judge C. W. Murduugh, of Portsmouth, delivered the principal address, and other addresses were delivered by Rev. R. W. Forsyths, of Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, Portsmouth, and Rev. Dr. C. S. Blackwell, of the Third Baptist church, Norfolk. Rev. A. S. Lloyd and Rev. John W. Daugherty assisted in the religious exercises, and the closing remarks were by Exalted-Ruler Frank O'Connor.

OUR FRANK THERE. OUR FRANK THERE.

The musical feature was grand, and Captain Frank Cunningham, of Richmond; Mrs. Josephine Turner-Homans, of New York; George P. Porter, Mrs. James A. Davis, and Mrs. E. W. Maupin, of Portsmouth, and Professor Newton Fitz, Miss Minnie Smith, Mr. T. O. Wise, Jr., E. J. Doran, and Thomas J. Anderson, of Norfolk, took part. Captain Cunningham, with Mr. Porter, rendered the duet. "Guide Me, O. Thou Great Jehovah." and towards the close the Captain gave as a towards the close the Captain gave as a solo, "Good Night." The exercises lasted over two hours, and the great audience paid the most earnest attention. BAILBOAD BETRENCHMENT.

There was a very heavy discharge on Sat-urday night of the workmen and laborers at the shops of the Seaboard Ar-Line. All of the different departments were touched, some heavier than others. It is said that the order is the beginning of a work of re-trenchment that is to affect the whole sys-It is stated that another lot of men wer

It is stated that another lot of men were discharged from the construction department of the navy-yard on Saturday night because the amount of work they performed each was not satisfactory to the bosses. The old order of things seems materially changed in the navy-yard now, and a man who obtains employment under Constructor Bowles is expected to do "a full day's work for a full day's pay."
